

Proposal for RJEMTalk

\ note: character limit includes spaces*

1. Please enter your contact information:
  - Full Name:
  - Email:
  - Phone Number:
2. What is the title of your RJEMTalk?
3. Please enter the name(s), email(s), and organizational affiliation(s) of who will present this RJEMTalk.
4. Provide a summary of your session to be included in the conference program if your proposal is accepted. (character limit: 650 characters)
5. What is the context of the proposed work and what are some of the key ideas relevant to understanding Racial Justice in Early Mathematics that your RJEMTalk will address? (character limit: 650 characters)
6. What key takeaways on Racial Justice in Early Mathematics will your RJEMTalk offer attendees? (character limit: 650 characters)
7. What are the implications of your work for helping us reflect on problems and possibilities of practice while teaching, learning, or doing research from a racial justice approach? (character limit: 650 characters)
8. Provide a 3 to 4 sentence positionality statement for each presenter that includes the following:
  - What is your relationship (e.g., personal, professional) to the topic?
  - How do you identify?
  - How will your multiple identities might be at work during this meeting and your presentation?
  - Why are you interested in presenting this topic?

Please note that this statement will be used as a bio in the meeting's program.
9. Is there anything else you would like us to know? (character limit: 350 characters)